

Remarks

The Examiner cited prior art patents in rejecting claims 1 and all claims dependent thereon on the ground of either obviousness or anticipation. In response, the Applicant has amended claim 1 to distinguish over these references.

Claim 1 now requires an attachment means adapted for affixation to a rotational drive having a vertically-oriented axis of rotation. The Applicant submits that the cited references do not include such a limitation and as the present invention is patentable over said references.

The Applicant respectfully submits that Claim 1 and all the claims dependent thereon are now in a state for allowance and requests same.

Respectfully submitted,
